This is the page for the NEER Research Cluster entitled Old Norse-Icelandic Studies.

The research cluster in Old Norse-Icelandic studies aims to facilitate the meeting of all Australian researchers in Old Norse-Icelandic studies on a regular basis to exchange ideas and present research findings through the medium of one- or two-day symposia. The cluster also aims to enable some of the international collaborators in the cluster to visit Australia for the purpose of furthering two major research projects currently underway at the University of Sydney:

- The ARC-funded edition of Skaldic Poetry of the Scandinavian Middles Ages
- Writing from the edge of the world: medieval Icelandic literature and the quest for social identity

NEER Research Cluster Coordinator:

Professor Margaret Clunies Ross, University of Sydney
